

one act of courage

save a life

We all play a part in stopping opioid overdose. Prevent a death by taking action now.

Washington State
Health Care Authority

RESPONDING TO AN OVERDOSE

Every minute counts. If you think someone has overdosed, do the following:

Check for signs of opioid overdose

Call 911

Give naloxone (or Narcan)

Perform rescue breaths

Stay with the person until help arrives
(and about two hours after the overdose)

WHAT IS NALOXONE?

Naloxone (or Narcan) is a prescription medicine that reverses an opioid overdose by blocking the opioid receptors in the brain. It helps a person begin breathing again and wake up from an overdose. Naloxone (Narcan) cannot be used to get high and it is not addictive.

Learn more at WATribalOpioidSolutions.com